Yes, I can pay full fee ($400).

We believe in the power of our work and we also want this workshop series to be accessible. If you are unable to pay the full fee please let us know. We are willing to offer some sliding scale slots to folks. We encourage you to think of creative ways you can raise funds to attend this workshop series. For example you can tell folks in your community about the training and see if they will help fund you to come to the training and then offer to share the information and learning from the workshop with the community.
